Patient Advocacy and Guidance

We clarify complex medical illness so you know what is happening, why it is happening, and what your options are.

Coping with a new illness can be overwhelming

Our clients are often skilled advocates for themselves. But sometimes there is a problem they just can't untangle.

The situations are different:

- A baby with a heart defect
- A college student with a serious illness
- An elderly parent with new heart failure

But the questions are the same:

- How to find the best specialist?
- Is there an alternative option for treatment?
- We know we should be asking questions – but what are the right questions to ask?

We help guide you through the medical maze

We Clarify Complex Medical Illness

- So you know what is happening
- Why it is happening
- And what your options are

Our Process

- We conduct an in depth evaluation, present a formal assessment and strategize with you to develop an action plan

We Provide:

Knowledge

- We bring you together with top specialists and medical centers and carry out key medical research on treatment options

Coordination

- We make sure your family and medical team are working together

Peace of Mind

- We can accompany you or a loved one in the hospital or to appointments to facilitate communication and understanding

To find a clear path forward

“

“Looking back, I am so happy to have had Dr. Lundberg’s support throughout that difficult time. We were completely unprepared to be immersed in the medical world of hospitals, surgeries, and recovery. Her expertise helped us face the uncertainty.”

–Jennifer H.

“

“Dr. Lundberg went above and beyond what was necessary and her attention to detail was superb. Her advice, counsel and out of the box thinking was highly appreciated.”

–Mary D.
